

Ways to stand in solidarity with Asian and Asian American sisters and brothers

Participate in Bystander intervention training:

- Bystander Intervention Training to Stop Anti-Asian/American and Xenophobic Harassment

Bystander intervention can be very powerful. If someone who is a target of racism pushes back, it can actually make things worse because the offender is often looking to provoke a reaction in that person. But if it is safe, if a bystander calls out the racism or even just offers support to the person being targeted, it can help de-escalate the situation and show the offender that their mindset is not shared by others.

Support Organizations serving Asian American communities:

- Stop APPI Hate: Report an incident for yourself or on behalf of another. Stop APPI Hate center tracks and responds to incidents of hate, violence, harassment, discrimination, shunning and child bullying against Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in the US.
- Asian Americans Advancing Justice | AAJC: AAJC is the voice for the Asian American community – the fastest-growing population in the U.S. – fighting for our civil rights through education, litigation, and public policy advocacy.
- Asian American Federation: AAF is the largest umbrella leadership organization in New York serving diverse Asian American communities

More ways to stand in solidarity with Asian and Asian American sisters and brothers

Support organizations working with small businesses and those with food and housing insecurities:

- Welcome to Chinatown
  - Donate to the small business grant & accelerator Longevity Fund
  - Donate to the Sik Faan fund, which partners with restaurants/shops to provide food for seniors and those in need
  - Follow on Instagram to learn about the community in a fun way and keep up with news on initiatives and how to be supportive
  - Check out the small business directory for recommendations of restaurants/shops to visit to increase your personal interactions with the community and show your support
- Heart of Dinner: Volunteer or donate to help combat food insecurity and isolation within NYC's elderly Asian American community.
- Openmeal INC.: OpenMeal alleviates hunger by empowering food insecure individuals to order free meals from local minority-owned restaurants
- Committee Against Anti-Asian Violence (CAAV) Builds the power of low-income Asian immigrants and refugees in NYC to fight for racial, gender, and economic justice.
- Immigrant History Initiative Incorporated: Produces curriculum focused on immigrant histories and works with schools and communities to establish courses sharing this knowledge. We also provide teaching and course development support in partnership with other organizations bringing immigrant histories into the mainstream